Adams County kept a date with history in the decade which closed Thursday midnight. Ironically, or prophetically, it began the ten-year span by recalling the first 150 years of its history.

When 1950 dawned there was little to indicate that historic Gettysburg was to add new luster to its name in the days that lay ahead.

History itself marked the opening year of the decade so emphatically that it was voted the "best news story" of the year. The Sesquicentennial of the county in pageant, story, book and display retold the days of the past during the sesqui year.

Ike Linked Here

There was one slight hint in 1950 that the county might be about to walk again in the limelight. But even that was misinterpreted, for the decision of Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, former commander-in-chief of the allied forces in Europe, to settle down here was expected to bring to the county an aura of history past — the retirement days of a man who had achieved greatness and came here to rest.

Both Eisenhower and Adams County were wrong in that estimate of a decade ago.

January 1, 1951, The Gettysburg Times reported "General 'Ike' Goes To Europe Instead Of Moving To His Farm Here; Uncertainty Clouds Plans."

The accompanying news story told how Eisenhower had purchased the Allen Redding farm in Cumberland Twp., planning to move into it January 1, 1951. But the president of Columbia University was called back to duty as General Eisenhower, to take over creation of the Army of Europe.

One Answer Came

The story noted that when the Eisenhowers were to settle down on the farm "it is shrouded in uncertainty. The situation involves the creation of the Army of Europe, which General Eisenhower has been called to head; just how quickly that army can be created; how long it will be necessary for it to continue and whether the general, after creating the army, must stay with it, or whether he can turn it over to other hands and return to the farm which he had bought shortly before being called to the new duty."

The decade brought only one answer to that list of questions. The general could "turn it over to other hands," which he did to become President of the United States.

The story of a decade ago noted that Mrs. Eisenhower expressed disappointment at not coming to the farm on January 1, 1951, adding that she thought she and the general were "old enough now to settle down."

1950 witnessed a number of other important events: WGET was built and went on the air; six counties died in far off Korea as part of a United Nations army defying communism; a school authority was formed to erect an addition to the Gettysburg High School, thus starting a decade that was to see more school construction in Adams County than any other half-century years; Gettysburg tried "one way streets" and decided that it didn't like them; The Gettysburg Times renamed Center Square as Lincoln Square; council proposed removing the center plot in Gettysburg's square and after a storm of protest backed down; countians were filled with curiosity concerning the "mystery purchases" at high prices of farms in the Stone Jug area and elsewhere through the county.

New Year's Eve Quieter

And it was during 1950 that a representative of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission called The Gettysburg Times and observed: "Now call your dogs off, there's going to be a Gettysburg Original change on the turnpike." Original plans had called for the turnpike in its extension from Carlisle to Ship Run 15 and have its next interchange at Harrisburg.

A news story January 1, 1951, noted a change — a change that has lasted a decade and has perhaps been symbolic of it. "Outwardly, at least, Gettysburg's welcome to the New Year on the stroke of midnight Sunday night lacked much of the customary noise and hilarity," the story read. And each successive year the New Year's Eve observances have become less noisy, less hilarious than in prior decades, for the gaiety of the change from one year to the next was also marked by awareness of tremendous change that would bring no one knows what in the year ahead.

Teachers Return From PSEA Meet

A number of Adams County teachers returned Thursday from Harrisburg where they attended the annual sessions of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Among them were Mrs. Charles Sprigg, Emmitsburg R.C., a teacher at Lincoln School, and Miss Jean Biggs, Orrlanna, a teacher at Keefauver School. Miss Eva Jane Schwartz, a teacher at the high school, attended several sessions. County School Superintendent C. P. Keefe and Assistant Superintendent M. Francis Coulson also were among those attending the sessions.

FIREMEN HERE HAD 83 CALLS DURING 1959

Gettysburg firemen responded to 83 alarms during 1959, seven more than the 76 calls recorded in 1958.

Meanwhile, the ambulance crew responded to 412 requests through December 30, compared with 401 such calls during 1958 and 166 trips during 1957. The substantial gain after 1957 came after the fire company assumed sole operation of the ambulances, a duty previously shared by the Warner Hospital staff.

Twenty of the 83 reported fires were in town. There were seven in the northeast, four in the northwest, seven in the southwest and two in the southeast. There were eight fires each on the Chambersburg and Harrisburg Rds. and Baltimore St.

In addition, there were fires on the following roads: Taneytown, two; Hunterstown, three; Knoxlyn, three; Water Works, one; Mummusburg, four; Fairfield, seven; Emmitsburg, three; York, four; Biglerville, four, and Hanover, two. Three fires were reported in Hunterstown proper, two on the battlefield and one at Gr View Terrace.

Highest Since 1957

The 83 fire calls during 1959 compared with the last ten years as follows: 1958, 76; 1957, 90; 1956, 57; 1955, 90; 1954, 96; 1953, 102; 1952, 74; 1951, 72; 1950, 96, and 1949, 55.

On only one occasion during 1959 did firemen find it necessary to hook up to fire plugs or streams in order to pump water. This was termed "remarkable" by William G. Weaver, former fire chief, on whose records these facts are based. Firemen made use of the booster tank on 35 occasions and used the manually operated equipment aboard trucks eleven times.

The fire company responded to 15 calls where they assisted neighboring companies, provided police action or found fires already under control. There were no false alarms during 1959. One false alarm was recorded in 1958.

Most Fires In Afternoon

From midnight to 6 a.m. there were six fires, from 6 a.m. to noon there were 25 fires, from noon to 6 p.m. there were 36 fires; this period, according to Weaver, has been the worst for years, and from 6 p.m. to midnight 16 fires were reported.

High-hearted World Cheers In '60 With Buoyant Hopes

A high-hearted world cheered in 1960 today with buoyant hopes that good days lie ahead.

In most countries, it was one of the gayest celebrations in years. Many national leaders saw prospects for mounting prosperity, and a more stable peace.

In such a mood, millions made merry with shouts, songs and she-nanigans, while church bells tolled and bands played.

Times Square Jammed

Thousands turned New York's Times Square into a reveling sea of humanity. In Rome, showers of pots and buckets cascaded into the streets at midnight.

Auto horns blared on the avenues of Paris, and fireworks banged a salute in German cities. Scottish bagpipes wailed. Champagne flowed in the restaurants of Vienna.

It was a spirited farewell to the old decade, and a gladsome greeting to the Sixties. Optimism, was the dominant note.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in a special message, looked forward in 1960 to "relief from the heavy burden of arms."

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter noted, despite unaltered conflicts, "a new atmosphere of hopefulness for the solution of world problems."

In both East and West, there were predictions of economic health and growth. The projected spring summit conference underlined the outlook for peace.

Moscow Streets Crowded

President Eisenhower, recently returned from his memorable world tour, observed the holiday with friends and family at his Augusta, Ga., retreat.

Across the nation, communities welcomed the new year with traditional festivities, frolic and church services. Parades and football games were the highlights in several places today.

Hanover Trio Is Released On Bail

Three Hanover R. 5 men arrested Tuesday night on a larceny charge based upon a Christmas Day theft of auto parts have been released from the Adams County jail after posting $500 bail each.

Sheriff Dawson Miller said one of the trio was released Wednesday and the other two Thursday after raising bail on a charge of taking six batteries, an auto radiator, a car radio and a 25-gallon crock from the home of Carl Henry Stello, New Oxford R. 2, on Christmas Day.

The men were two brothers, Ezra and David Benjamin Schoolcraft, and their nephew, Ronald Roy Schoolcraft, all of Hanover R. 5.

WARM AND DRY WAS WEATHER REPORT ON '59

The weather report on 1959 was "warm and dry."

The year which ended Thursday was the warmest here since 1933 and the fifth year in the last decade that has been short on rainfall.

Last year became the eighth in the last nine years with temperatures that averaged above the mythical normal figure. Only 1958 broke that cycle and the average temperature that year was less than a degree below normal for the last half century.

The average daily temperature for 1959 was 54.28 degrees which is 1.88 degrees above normal. Only January, March and November were cooler than normal for those periods. All the other months were warmer than their averages that have been established by figures going back more than a half century.

Range From 4 To 98

The temperature range last year was from a low of four degrees above zero last January 19 to a high reading of 98 degrees that was reached both in June and July.

All but four months of 1959 were short on rainfall. They were April, August and October while March's rains were exactly "normal." The year wound up with a total of 37.82 inches of rain and snow. Normal is 40.99 inches so the year's shortage comes to 3.17 inches.

186 Growing Days

Last year had 18.6 inches of snow after 32 inches had been counted here in 1958. There was measurable snow in five months last year with March accumulating 6.5 inches which was high for the year. March of 1958 had 20 inches of snow.

The year's growing period, 186 days—the span between the last spring freeze and the first killing frost—was an improvement over 1958 which had only 174 days in its growing period. That had been an improvement, too, over 1957, which had only 146 days and 1956 when the total was 127 days. The record is held by 1955 which had a span of 196 days.

Weather highlights of the year included snows that clogged highways and brought down utility lines in the spring and again early last month.

23 New Homes Started In Town In '59; Construction Total Here $1,766,521

After doubling in 1958 over 1957, construction work in Gettysburg for 1959 took a decided drop with a total of $1,766,521. The 1958 total was $2,454,958.71 including nearly one and a half million dollars construction work on the Gettysburg College campus, according to records in the office of Burgess Wilbur L. Plank.

The burgess issued permits for 23 new homes during 1959, compared with 24 such permits the year before. The 23 permits were among a total of 125 issued for all building purposes compared with 113 during 1958.

The total cost of the 23 new homes for 1959 was $339,000 or an average of $14,739. The average 1958 cost was $15,516. The decrease halts a trend of the last several years in which the average cost per home increased approximately $1,000 each year.

The highest total in a single month occurred in May when permits for five homes were issued covering a cost of $69,500. The high month for 1958 was June when four homes were started costing $86,000.

Significant Construction

Noteworthy construction undertaken each month follows: January, a one-story addition with boiler room to the Warner Hospital, $126,000; February, an addition to Memorial EUB Church on W. High St., $47,080, and a one-story house and garage on King St. and Highland Ave., $30,000; March, a Farmstone house and garage on Fairview Ave., $17,500; April, a two-story steel constructed building on N. Stratton St., $26,400, and a one-story house and garage on Fairview Ave., $15,000.

May, a service station on Buford Ave., $25,000, and a two-story house and garage on Fairview Ave., $20,000; June, a brick and concrete block house and garage on Fairview Ave., $22,000, and an alteration to McKnight Hall, a Gettysburg College dormitory, $138,000; September, a brick house and two-car garage on Highland Ave., $20,000; October, a house on Ridge Ave., $17,500; November, an addition to the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house, Carlisle Ave., $30,000, and the renovation of the Meade Elementary School, $62,437; and December, the Colonial Motel, Carlisle St., $135,000.

1959 TOURIST TRAVEL HERE BEST SINCE '38

With the exception of 1938, more tourists visited Gettysburg during 1959 than during any prior year in the town's history.

National Park Superintendent James B. Myers said that: "Without a doubt, last year was the year for tourist travel in Gettysburg and from all indications 1960 should do as well, provided the economy continues well nationally and there are no wars or other catastrophes."

Superintendent Myers said 872,804 persons visited the field, according to the National Park estimates.

That was 137,826 more than the total here in 1958 when the estimate was 734,978.

17 Million Since '30

It compares to 1938 which set all time records by bringing 1,554,234 here, but of that number nearly a million were present during a short period in late June and July when 1,500 Civil War veterans were here for the last reunion of the Blue and Gray and the dedication of the Eternal Peace monument.

NEW DIVORCE RECORD SET HERE IN 1959

The Adams County court granted the largest number of divorces in any one year of its history during 1959 — but there were a lot of marriages too.

The records in the probate court's office show 27 divorces granted during 1959, six more decrees than were issued in the previous high years, 1956 and 1953, in both of which 22 were granted.

But while the number of divorces granted was up, the number asking was not as high as it has been in some years. In 1957, 32 sought divorces and in 1953, 30. In 1959, 27 divorces were sought and 27 granted, but some of the 27 suits are still in the processing stage and some of the 27 granted were started in prior years.

281 Couples Licensed

On the other end of the marriage-divorce ratio, the clerk of court's office showed 283 wedding permits granted during the year, higher than the number in 1958, but lower than the all time high of 328 in 1956.

In addition to the 27 divorces granted in 1959, there was one dismissed. There are six divorce cases listed so far for February term, 1960, but that compares with seven divorces underway at the beginning of 1959.

181 In Decade

During the last decade 181 divorces have been granted by the Adams County court, while the court house has issued 2,704 licenses to wed.

The number of divorces granted per year during the 1950s follow: 1950, 12; 1951, 11; 1952, 16; 1953, 30; 1954, 10; 1955, 21; 1956, 22; 1957, 19; 1958, 21; 1959, 27.

During the same years the number of marriage licenses issued was: 1950, 246; 1951, 195; 1952, 235; 1953, 299; 1954, 289; 1955, 267; 1956, 328; 1957, 284; 1958, 278; and 1959, 283.

Church services and frantic parties, for examples, are typical ways of celebrating in the U. S.

In many European countries, gifts are exchanged on New Year's Day. The custom originated with the Romans, according to the World Book Encyclopedia. Back in 747 B. C., reportedly, they presented the king of the Sabines with branches of bay and palm trees consecrated to Strenia, the goddess of strength. The "strenae," or gifts, became more elaborate, in expectation of royal favor, and the emperors came to regard them as deserved tribute.

Augustus Caesar is said to have passed the word along that he had had a vision in which he saw himself receiving gifts from the Senate and the people on January 1.

Claudius finally stopped the influence-peddling by limiting the cost of gifts.

Henry III introduced the custom into England in the 1200's, and Elizabeth I collected enough loot to replenish her wardrobe for a year. The custom (Continued On Page 2)

THREE INJURED IN CAR CRASH; ONE CRITICAL

Three men were injured, one critically, when a car ran off the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. 1.2 miles south of York Springs at 1:35 o'clock this morning.

State police said Ernest Hollabaugh, 34, York Springs R. 2, was driving south when his car left the highway, struck a guard fence and finally came to rest after hitting a tree. The car, which police said ripped off five posts of the guard rail fence, was totally demolished. They set the loss for the 1958 coupe at $1,700.

Removed to the Warner Hospital in the York Springs ambulance, Hollabaugh was reported "critical" at the hospital this morning. The police report lists him as suffering from multiple lacerations, a fractured pelvis and a crushed right leg and foot.

Two passengers in his car were also injured and brought to the hospital here in the York Springs ambulance.

Police said Barry Zeigler, 19, York Springs R. 2, had a fracture of the right foot and Paul Stauffer, 29, York Springs R. 2, had lacerations of the right leg, head and eyes.

Police said the accident was the only one they were called to investigate during the night.

Sandburg Visit Second

A close second in the balloting was the climax to the observance of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial year here on November 19 when Carl Sandburg came to Gettysburg for the Lincoln speech anniversary event.

Third on the list was "the second battle of Gettysburg," the efforts to save for the National Park some of the county home land about to be sold by the county commissioners. The establishment of the park (See Photo On Page 8)

High-hearted World Cheers In '60 With Buoyant Hopes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A high-hearted world cheered in 1960 today with buoyant hopes that good days lie ahead.

In most countries, it was one of the gayest celebrations in years. Many national leaders saw prospects for mounting prosperity, and a more stable peace.

In such a mood, millions made merry with shouts, songs and shenanigans, while church bells tolled and bands played.

Times Square Jammed

Thousands turned New York's Times Square into a reveling sea of humanity. In Rome, showers of pots and buckets cascaded into the streets at midnight.

Auto horns blared on the avenues of Paris, and fireworks banged a salute in German cities. Scottish bagpipes wailed. Champagne flowed in the restaurants of Vienna.

It was a spirited farewell to the old decade, and a gladsome greeting to the Sixties. Optimism, was the dominant note.

Hanover Trio Is Released On Bail

Three Hanover R. 5 men arrested Tuesday night on a larceny charge based upon a Christmas Day theft of auto parts have been released from the Adams County jail after posting $500 bail each.

Sheriff Dawson Miller said one of the trio was released Wednesday and the other two Thursday after raising bail on a charge of taking six batteries, an auto radiator, a car radio and a 25-gallon crock from the home of Carl Henry Stello, New Oxford R. 2, on Christmas Day.

The men were two brothers, Ezra and David Benjamin Schoolcraft, and their nephew, Ronald Roy Schoolcraft, all of Hanover R. 5.

WARM AND DRY WAS WEATHER REPORT ON '59

The weather report on 1959 was "warm and dry."

The year which ended Thursday was the warmest here since 1933 and the fifth year in the last decade that has been short on rainfall.

Last year became the eighth in the last nine years with temperatures that averaged above the mythical normal figure. Only 1938 broke that cycle and the average temperature that year was less than a degree below normal for the last half century.

The average daily temperature for 1959 was 54.28 degrees which is 1.88 degrees above normal. Only January, March and November were cooler than normal for those periods. All the other months were warmer than their averages that have been established by figures going back more than a half century.

Range From 4 To 98

The temperature range last year was from a low of four degrees above zero last January 19 to a high reading of 98 degrees that was reached both in June and July.

All but four months of 1959 were short on rainfall. They were April, August and October while March's rains were exactly "normal." The year wound up with a total of 37.82 inches of rain and snow. Normal is 40.99 inches so the year's shortage comes to 3.17 inches.

786 Growing Days

Last year had 18.6 inches of snow after 32 inches had been counted here in 1958. There was measurable snow in five months last year with March accumulating 6.5 inches which was high for the year. March of 1958 had 20 inches of snow.

The year's growing period, 186 days — the span between the last spring freeze and the first killing frost — was an improvement over 1958 which had only 174 days in its growing period. That had been an improvement, too, over 1957, which had only 146 days and 1956 when the total was 127 days. The record is held by 1955 which had a span of 198 days.

Weather highlights of the year included snows that clogged highways and brought down utility lines in the spring and again early last month.

23 New Homes Started In Town In '59; Construction Total Here $1,766,521

After doubling in 1958 over 1957, construction work in Gettysburg for 1959 took a decided drop with a total of $1,766,521. The 1958 total was $2,454,958.71 including nearly one and a half million dollars construction work on the Gettysburg College campus, according to records in the office of Burgess Wilbur L. Plank.

The burgess issued permits for 23 new homes during 1959, compared with 24 such permits the year before. The 23 permits were among a total of 125 issued for all building purposes compared with 113 during 1958.

The total cost of the 23 new homes for 1959 was $339,000 or an average of $14,739. The average 1958 cost was $15,516. The decrease halts a trend of the last several years in which the average cost per home increased approximately $1,000 each year.

The highest total in a single month occurred in May when permits for five homes were issued covering a cost of $69,500. The high month for 1958 was June when four homes were started costing $86,000.

Significant Construction

Noteworthy construction undertaken each month follows: January, a one-story addition with boiler room to the Warner Hospital, $426,000; February, an addition to Memorial EUB Church on W. High St., $47,000, and a one-story house and garage on King St. and Highland Ave., $30,000; March, a Farmstone house and garage on Fairview Ave., $17,500; April, a two-story steel constructed building on N. Stratton St., $26,400, and a one-story house and garage on Fairview Ave., $15,000.

May, a service station on Buford Ave., $25,000, and a two-story house and garage on Fairview Ave., $20,000; June, a brick and concrete block house and garage on Fairview Ave., $22,000, and an alteration to McKnight Hall, a Gettysburg College dormitory, $138,000; September, a brick house and two-car garage on Highland Ave., $20,000; October, a house on Ridge Ave., $17,500; November, an addition to the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity house, Carlisle Ave., $30,000, and the renovation of the Meade Elementary School, $62,437; and December, the Colonial Motel, Carlisle St., $135,000.

Monthly Breakdown

Construction permits, types and costs by monthly breakdown are as follows: January, two nonresidential; February, one nonresidential; March, one nonresidential; April, one nonresidential; May, one nonresidential; June, one nonresidential; July, one nonresidential; August, one nonresidential; September, one nonresidential; October, one nonresidential; November, one nonresidential; December, one nonresidential.

281 Couples Licensed

On the other end of the marriage-divorce ratio, the clerk of court's office showed 283 wedding permits granted during the year, higher than the number in 1958, but lower than the all time high of 328 in 1956.

In addition to the 27 divorces granted in 1959, there was one dismissed. There are six divorce cases listed so far for February term, 1960, but that compares with seven divorces underway at the beginning of 1959.

181 In Decade

During the last decade 181 divorces have been granted by the Adams County court, while the court house has issued 2,704 licenses to wed.

The number of divorces granted per year during the 1950s follows: 1950, 12; 1951, 11; 1952, 16; 1953, 22; 1954, 10; 1955, 21; 1956, 22; 1957, 19; 1958, 21; 1959, 27.

During the same years the number of marriage licenses issued was: 1950, 246; 1951, 195; 1952, 235; 1953, 299; 1954, 289; 1955, 267; 1956, 328; 1957, 284; 1958, 278; and 1959, 283.

1959 TOURIST TRAVEL HERE BEST SINCE '38

With the exception of 1938, more tourists visited Gettysburg during 1959 than during any prior year in the town's history.

National Park Superintendent James B. Myers said that: "Without a doubt, last year was the year for tourist travel in Gettysburg and from all indications 1960 should do as well, provided the economy continues well nationally and there are no wars or other catastrophes."

Superintendent Myers said 872,804 persons visited the field, according to the National Park estimates.

That was 137,826 more than the total here in 1958 when the estimate was 734,978.

17 Million Since '30

It compares to 1938 which set all time records by bringing 1,534,234 here, but of that number nearly a million were present during a short period in late June and July when 1,500 Civil War veterans were here for the last reunion of the Blue and Gray and the dedication of the Eternal Peace monument.

NEW DIVORCE RECORD SET HERE IN 1959

The Adams County court granted the largest number of divorces in any one year of its history during 1959 — but there were a lot of marriages too.

The records in the probate court's office show 27 divorces granted during 1959, six more divorces than were issued in the previous high years, 1956 and 1953, in both of which 22 were granted.

But while the number of divorces granted was up, the number asking was not as high as it has been in some years. In 1957, 32 sought divorces and in 1953, 30. In 1959, 27 divorces were sought and 27 granted, but some of the 27 suits are still in the processing stage and some of the 27 granted were started in prior years.

THREE INJURED IN CAR CRASH; ONE CRITICAL

Three men were injured, one critically, when a car ran off the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. 1.2 miles south of York Springs at 1:35 o'clock this morning.

State police said Ernest Hollabaugh, 34, York Springs R. 2, was driving south when his car left the highway, struck a guard fence and finally came to rest after hitting a tree. The car, which police said ripped off five posts of the guard rail fence, was totally demolished. They set the loss for the 1958 coupe at $1,700.

Removed to the Warner Hospital in the York Springs ambulance, Hollabaugh was reported "critical" at the hospital this morning. The police report lists him as suffering from multiple lacerations, a fractured pelvis and a crushed right leg and foot.

Two passengers in his car were also injured and brought to the hospital here in the York Springs ambulance.

Police said Barty Zeigler, 19, York Springs R. 2, had a fracture of the right foot and Paul Stauffer, 29, York Springs R. 2, had lacerations of the right leg, head and eyes.

Police said the accident was the only one they were called to investigate during the night.

TECTIVES USHSEARCH FOR SLAYERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police they have questioned seven offenders but have failed to connect any of them with the slaying of 16-year-old Ann Mitchell.

Meanwhile, detectives today used to look into the possibility of more than one person may have been part in the brutal beating of the Philadelphia girl.

A body was found Wednesday morning beside a desolate lovers' lane nearby Whitmarsh Town-

Find Trail
The 250 law enforcement officers combed a 10-square-mile area surrounding the scene Thursday and found a trail of tires and a car.

Because of this officers theorize in the way to and from the scene personal articles were left on both sides of an area, indicating two or more persons were tossing the objects out of the car.

Detectives questioned and re-examined the owner of an auto which was found abandoned in the city. The window of the drive-in was shattered and sliver of glass were still on the seat. A car was traced through the Pennsylvania license tag.

Investigators also searched garages, big lots and cars. They looked for iron which medical officers reported could have inflicted the deep lacerations on an inch on the back of the girl's houses and shacks along the Kill River were investigated. The girl may have been captive and tortured for a police say.

Inspector John J. Kelly felt the solution of the case rested in the area being searched. He said this far the case obtained indicated the killers had a thorough familiarity with the area.

2 Bodies In Mill Wreckage
BY, Wis. (AP)—The ruins of a mill and grain elevator were destroyed by two violent explosions today for the bodies of two men believed dead in the wreckage.

The building was shattered and lay and swept by flames continued to burn in isolated patches. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

Two men were hospitalized. Explosions rocked this northern Wisconsin community of persons. The mill was the largest building, with eleven stories tall. It was 300 feet long. Chunks of concrete were thrown 100 feet.

Robert Luffoff said the men were Jess Degner, 55, and Elbert, 42.

More than 100 volunteers kept the search.

The blast was blamed on an explosion of milling dust.

SAYRE HIT BY LUMBER FIRE

SAYRE, Pa. (AP)—A general alarm fire destroyed the main building of the Croft Lumber Co. and knocked out electric power in two communities, disrupting many New Year's celebrations. Fifteen firemen were injured.

Firemen said the blaze broke out shortly before midnight on the second floor of the sprawling building which housed quantities of hardware and other building supplies. They estimated damages unofficially at between $300,000 and $500,000.

The fire melted a 22,000-volt power cable, causing electric failures through the night in this northeastern Pennsylvania community and nearby Athens, Pa., both near the New York border.

Many business establishments catering to the New Year's crowds used candles, flashlights and generally did the best they could under the circumstances. Hospitals used auxiliary power units.

Firemen were hampered by sub-freezing weather but they brought the blaze under control in about four hours. Units from Sayre, Athens and Waverly, N. Y., answered the general alarm.

Store Payroll Of $5,452 Taken

DETROIT (AP)—The men's wear department at a local department store lost its shirt Thursday.

Someone walked off with a $5,452 payroll.

Supervisors were calling at the cashier's windows to collect pay envelopes for employees in their departments.

A man stepped up and said, "I'll take Men's Wear and Men's Hats." He signed the name of the supervisor, took the 56 pay envelopes and left.

Three hours later the real supervisor went to get the pay and the theft was discovered. The employees received their pay. The firm is working out a new distribution system.

Fascinating

men began reconstruction of the home on President Eisenhower's farm in Cumberland Twp.

New Buildings, Taxes Go Up

By 1954 the rapid expansion of the county's school system led new school construction to be picked as the No. 1 story of the year. The construction involved expenditure of more than $3,500,000, for the addition to the Gettysburg High School building; the construction of Keefeauver Elementary School, the first grade school to be built here in a century; the addition to the Fairfield school and elementary buildings at Biglerville, Arendtsville, Littlestown and New Oxford.

Part of that "No. 1 story" concerning new construction was the increase of school taxes which began to take a bigger and bigger bite from the taxpayer starting in 1954.

Construction generally was a big story of the year. In Gettysburg during 1954 the new Gettysburg Shoe Factory, the W. T. Grant Store, an addition to the Gettysburg National Bank and a new National Garage were among the structures built during the year.

Ike Recuperated Here

Another piece of construction became almost a No. 1 story in the nation — remodeling of the Eisenhower home which brought scores of writers from the nation's press here — a harbinger, at that moment unrecognized, of the new center Gettysburg was to become in the 1950s.

Gettysburg's date with history came in 1955 when the town, famous for its Civil War history, became in effect for a period of 37 days from November 14 through December 20 the capital of the free world.

"White House, Gettysburg"

President Dwight D. Eisenhower had suffered a heart attack in Denver. He came to his home here during the closing days of his recuperation and established an office in the post office here. Reporters from throughout the world swarmed into Gettysburg. Microwave projectors were established atop the American Legion Home; the gymnasium at the Hotel Gettysburg was turned into a press room and for 37 days the press releases, notices, appointments, etc., bore the notation "The White House, Gettysburg, Penna."

And to confer with the President here came the cabinet, and leaders from throughout the world. The midpoint in the decade was also a time of travail for the school systems of the county, with the schools, because of delayed state appropriations, ending the year in their worst financial situation in history and with some teachers wondering if they would receive their next paychecks. Construction of schools continued apace, with more schools planned and the birthrate zooming to provide ever more students — a condition that continued through the next five years. The year also was marked by the beginnings of a realignment of school systems. The Conewago and North Adams joint school systems by 1955 were seen to be doomed and the Bermudian Springs system arose to replace the former two.

Salk Vaccine Appears

The middle of the decade also marked by the giving of the first Salk vaccine shots in the county, numerous conventions, resignation by Dr. Walter C. Langsam of the presidency of Gettysburg College and retirement of Dr. W. E. Tilberg as dean of the college. The Elks and Moose made major renovations to their homes and construction continued through the year in remodeling and construction of new homes.

The weather went on a spree during 1955 making it the wettest, hottest, driest and coldest for many years.

1956 continued the visitation of world personages here as Adams County continued to be known throughout the world through the President and his home here. President and Mrs. Eisenhower cast their votes in Cumberland Twp. in the election that returned the President to the White House for another four-year term.

School problems continued to plague school boards and the state began plans for a 1½-million dollar bypass at York Springs.

New College Prexy

General Willard S. Paul was named as president of Gettysburg College; a new wing was completed at the Warner Hospital as it sought to keep pace of the ever increasing number of patients. New records for construction were set for Gettysburg including building of the dining hall and two men's dormitories at Gettysburg College.

Past history also was noted: Gettysburg marked its 150th anniversary and the allied orders of the Grand Army of the Republic established here a statue, depicting Albert Woolson, last survivor of the Union armies, honoring all members of the Grand Army.

Gettysburg changed its school superintendent. Dr. Lloyd C. Keefeauver, after more than 30 years of wrestling with the town's school problems, retired and H. Edgar Riegle was chosen to fill his place.

History Made Here

The President continued to dominate the local news in 1957. There were many important visitors here including West German President Conrad Adenauer, but the one who perked up the whole world was Field Marshal Montgomery. He had the President toured the battlefield and Montgomery's second guessing on less and Meade led to some wondrous outbursts among historians and partisans of the two Civil War generals.

As usual, history past and in the making blended in Gettysburg during 1957. Montgomery's visit succeeded in perfectly blending the two together. Gettysburg College recalled the past marking its 125th anniversary, ending with the first of the series of Civil War Conferences that have become a regular feature of college and Gettysburg life. The C. H. Musselman Co. marked its 50th anniversary; Mt. St. Mary's its 130th, and Emmitsburg its 200th.

Big School Decisions

School districts during 1957 made decisions concerning school buildings that tallied up to $3,000,000 worth of construction including York Springs High School addition; Gettysburg's new Eisenhower School; Conewago Twp.'s new school and New Oxford's new high school, which entered the planning stages at that time. Three years later the York Springs, Eisenhower and Conewago Twp. schools are in use; New Oxford is building and Littlestown is getting a new high school underway while the Bermudian Springs Joint System is constructing its new more-than-a-million-dollar high school and addition to the East Berlin school.

Referring to the college and the schools of the county, The Times was able to say on January 1, 1959, that $3,500,000 worth of school construction had gotten underway in 1958 and $5,632,883 more was in the planning stage.

Floods, Blizzards, Progress

By 1958 Gettysburg's connection with current world events had become almost commonplace and the honor of the top news story of the year went to a flash flood that claimed four lives. Gettysburg borough's council found the year vexatious, with problems of garbage disposal, new street lights, traffic and parking becoming more pressing. During the year the town took over operation of the recreation program.

The weather brought blizzards which cut off telephone and electric service to thousands during March and upset routines for days.

The county commissioners took the advice of their advisory board and decided to abandon farming at the county home and construct a new home. The commissioners had anticipated that 1959 would find a new county home in existence—but a new board of commissioners, with two new members will have to carry out the plans. Monday the Adams County court will study the plans developed for a new county home. If it approves, the new home may get underway in the 1960s.

1st School Merger

A Gettysburg Civil War Round Table came into existence and the Adams County Council of Churches was organized.

In Upper Adams County the voters approved a merged school district which may be the model for a general reorganization of the school setup in the county. Television, which was little more than a high aerial over a few tap rooms at the beginning of the decade, was introduced into the schools of the county, after having spread a myriad of antennae over many homes of the county, and finally reached the point where "rabbit ears" gave it sufficient power to provide a picture that would have been undreamed of in the best installation at the beginning of the ten-year period.

1959 brought with it a continuation and development of most of the changes that began ten years earlier. Dial telephones, promised for Gettysburg in 1958, became a reality in the area last month.

The ten-year period saw the development of the county's Civil Defense-Firemen's radio network, which began in Gettysburg, into a county-wide network with seven main radio stations and more to come. 1959 saw full-time manning of the CD-Firemen's main radio station here for CD purposes as well as police, fire and ambulance service. An installation was made to permit sounding of all fire sirens in the county simultaneously as a CD measure. But with the dial system installed in the Gettysburg substitution four fire companies around the town decided that the person on duty at Gettysburg's station could sound their sirens by remote control for every call.

More Murders In '50s

There were more murders in the county than in any prior decade. There were bank robberies and jail escapes and other items that can be found in any decade.

The population grew and grew and grew, and churches expanded their size, built new Sunday School additions, and found that church attendance and activities grew even faster than population during the decade.

Movie houses, apparently secure at the beginning of the decade, closed at various spots through the county, while those remaining found patronage declined, then held its own as the decade ended.

Mr. "K" Came To County

10 NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS FOR HOUSEWIFE

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

New Year's resolutions are good for the soul, whether you keep them or not. So here are a few I'd like to suggest for today's women:

1. I shall try with all my heart to be fresh, smiling and glamorous at breakfast. Even if Junior upsets his orange juice. Even if Mary refuses to eat her eggs. Even if my husband complains about the coffee and goes off in the snow without his rubbers.

2. I shall endeavor to make my home look like the color pictures in the best shelter magazines, although how you keep the family from marring the scene with scattered galoshes, raincoats, snow suits, old newspapers and homework I haven't quite figured out.

No Unpleasant Topics

3. I shall attempt never to introduce an unpleasant subject at the dinner table, even though Suzy spends most of mealtime on the telephone and Junior brings a live frog to the table. Even though both brought home report cards marked unsatisfactory, and even though their father said if they couldn't do any better than this, why pay all this private school tuition. Why not put them to work?

4. I shall do my best to remain calm, capable, sweet and forbearing at all times, even when the electricity goes off right at dinner time and I have to finish the beef stew on the back-yard barbecue grill. Even when the water pipes freeze and the washing machine goes on the blink, and I can't bribe a repair man to come within two weeks.

5. I shall never indulge in female histrionics, even though I do a full-time job at the office and then have to come home and get dinner and do the dishes.

Live Up To Ideal

6. I shall try to live up to that ideal of the modern woman always extolled in the women's magazines beliefs concerning what was best in construction for the town. Many remodeled their homes or buildings in keeping with Colonial or 1863 styles; many remodeled store fronts modernistically. Borough Council proposed a new and modern lighting system for the town, but decided to reconsider when protest was made that the lighting would ruin the Civil War appearance of the streets.

Garbage disposal became almost a fighting word, as the town sought a solution to the problem caused by the state's closing the town's open dump. Nearby township supervisors found their meetings invaded by protesting citizens when they gave tentative approval to establishment of a sanitary landfill. Finally Highland Twp. gave its approval and the waste disposal problem was solved.

Nationwide Publicity

Cumberland Twp. began studies of zoning, to protect its property holders in the expected expansion of the township, as well as to help guard the Battlefield.

And the possibility of commercial encroachments on the Battlefield proper exploded into nationwide publicity first, then establishment of a Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association to raise a million dollars and buy privately owned land to give to the government. Cliff Arquette, who became famed as "Charley Weaver" and who established a museum here, made a plea for funds that had brought more than $10,000 into the battlefield preservation association by year's end.

Tourists Come Back

The tourist trade, which had been dropping off early in the decade, made a recovery and the largest number since 1938 was here in 1959, with every indication that the coming year will show an increase over the year just ended.

The decade saw the loss of hundreds of countians who had contributed much to the county; it also saw the birth of a record number of children.

It saw the start of many new ventures: growth of motels and museums in Gettysburg and new plants and buildings throughout the county. It saw Conewago and Cumberland Twp. burgeoning to such an extent that they had to be divided into two voting districts each.

Toll On Highways

The decade saw a vast increase in the number of automobiles on the highways with the cars growing ever bigger for most of the decade and then suddenly a vast number of tiny foreign cars appeared, followed by "compact" cars in 1959 that approximate in size the cars most were driving in 1950.

The automobile brought great loss and terrible pain and suffering and sorrow to the county as well as pleasure and mobility. During the ten years an estimated 3,000 people were hurt by cars, 2,687 in accidents investigated by state police and at least 400 more in accidents investigated by borough police, plus hundreds of accidents which went unreported to any police officers.

More than 185 funerals were held for persons killed by the automobile in the decade. There were more than 3,359 accidents—that's the total investigated by state police, not counting those unreported and those investigated by local police and in 10 years auto accidents in Adams County caused possibly $3,000,000 damage, the state police estimate alone being $2,516,362.

Decade of Changes

Construction of new homes in the county was reflected in Gettysburg where permits for more than 200 new houses were given during the decade. With new schools, the county's expansion program, etc., more than $11,000,000 worth of construction took place in Gettysburg alone during the 10 years.

It was a decade of constant change and no single article, or series of articles could tell all of the details of change in ten years; the story mostly is in the hearts and minds of countians, for each person the decade affected differently.

Another ten years may be needed to say what truly were the great events of the Fabulous Fifties in Adams County, for history will have the last say.

though how you keep the family from marring the scene with scattered galoshes, raincoats, snow suits, old newspapers and homework I haven't quite figured out.

No Unpleasant Topics

3. I shall attempt never to introduce an unpleasant subject at the dinner table, even though Suzy spends most of mealtime on the telephone and Junior brings a live frog to the table. Even though both brought home report cards marked unsatisfactory, and even though their father said if they couldn't do any better than this, why pay all this private school tuition. Why not put them to work?

4. I shall do my best to remain calm, capable, sweet and forbearing at all times, even when the electricity goes off right at dinner time and I have to finish the beef stew on the back-yard barbecue grill. Even when the water pipes freeze and the washing machine goes on the blink, and I can't bribe a repair man to come within two weeks.

5. I shall never indulge in female histrionics, even though I do a full-time job at the office and then have to come home and get dinner and do the dishes.

Live Up To Ideal

6. I shall try to live up to that ideal of the modern woman always extolled in the women's magazines

—the wonder girl who runs a brilliant career with one hand, a home and family with the other, community activities, social life, PTA politics and artistic hobbies with the third, fourth, fifth and sixth hands and always is fascinating, glamorous, scintillating and the life of every party, if it kills her.

7. I shall become a gourmet cook, and serve up every meal in true Escoffier style, even though my family prefers hamburgers. They should be exposed to the finer things of life.

8. I shall live graciously, come heck or high water. I shall always have flowers and candlelight with dinner, sunshine and laughter with breakfast and gay companionship with lunch. I shall tie satin bows on the kitchen chairs when life gets dull, and make charming table mats out of old bath towels, dyed in my automatic washing machine and embroidered on my automatic sewing machine.

One To Keep

9. I shall take advantage of leisure time, gained through modern push-button housekeeping, by improving my mind and getting acquainted with the higher things of life, even if I have to do it between two and four in the morning, after I've finished running the electric dishwasher, putting tomorrow's dinner in the automatic oven and making a list of the buttons to be pushed the next day.

10. When the whole family seems unbearable I shall ask myself how it would be to live without them, and things will immediately seem better.

P.S. The tenth is probably the only one of these resolutions I shall keep.

Vulgar Literature To Get Attention

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover called today for stern action against dealers in obscene and vulgar literature. Writing in the January issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover said:

"The time for half-hearted, oblique action against depravity is past. Although this dispicable trade reaps 500 million dollars a year, this diabolical business is costing the nation much more than money. It is robbing our country and particularly our younger generation of decency—it is a seed-bed for delinquency among juveniles and depravity among all ages."

Hoover's statement lent support to a campaign which Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has been waging, with special emphasis on keeping obscene matter—and advertising for it—out of the mails.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Eventful Year For Residents Of Community Nears Its End

The last entries will be written Sunday in an eventful year for residents of Gettysburg and Adams county — a year that has had no parallel in this community's history. Many of its days were darkened by grim tidings of its youths on battlefields all over the world, but many others were made resplendent by achievements at home and abroad.

The war with its far-reaching effects touching every walk of life dominated the year's events in Gettysburg and Adams county as it did everywhere.

The year saw the possibility that the war might reach the county's borders by way of aerial bombing dwindle to the point that blackouts were discontinued and air raid drills omitted in the later months of the year.

Over 40 Gold Stars Added

Service telegrams in steadily mounting numbers were delivered to literally hundreds of homes in Adams county. The most brought news that countians had been wounded. Others told anxious families their fathers, sons or brothers were missing or prisoners of war while more than 40 brought word that a county man had made the supreme sacrifice in the service of his country on the invasion coast, the western front, in Italy, in the Pacific, on the high seas, or in the air over war zones.

Letters and official announcements told of Adams county men distinguishing themselves in every branch of the service and of being decorated for their achievements. "Post-war life" began for some servicemen who received discharges from the armed forces.

In 1944 the war touched more families than ever before in this county for the total number of Adams county sons and daughters serving in the armed forces now is estimated as passing the 4,000 mark.

Home Front Busy

While the Civilian Defense organization involving close to 4,000 countians held intact for war or home front organizations made notable records of wartime service.

The Red Cross led the way in home front service

Through the Red Cross Adams countians boosted to 2,611 the number of pints of blood they have given to help save the lives of their fighting men at the battlefronts. The donors organized the gallon club and enrolled 221 members in 1944

Henry Garvin Assumes Post Of C. C. Head

Henry W. Garvin, new president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, was formally inducted into office at the last dinner meeting of the year at the Blue Parrot Tea Garden Thursday evening.

He succeeds Mares Sherman, retiring president, who held office for three terms. Other officers inducted were George M. Zerfing, vice president, and Ralph Z. Oyster, who was re-elected treasurer.

County Donated $20,292 To War Fund Campaign

Final reports have been compiled on the Adams County War Fund campaign, launched in October, showing a total of $20,292 collected, making it the most successful drive so far.

Four Inch Snow Covers County; Roads Slippery

Today's Talk

FORGET

One of the greatest achievements of character is to learn how to forget. For as you forget, you remember — that there are greater things to do and to experience than anything at which you may have failed.

Happy 1960 to you! HAPPY New Year!

Let us together find in this great New Year that solidarity of soul that never lets up under pressure — or anything.

I am not a believer in New Year resolutions. I think it takes more effort to make resolutions than to carry them out. There isn't time for both, it seems to me. There is only one way to get things done, and that is just to do them.

Surely there is no time for regrets. Surely there is no room in a busy world for "the things that are behind."

Forget and trot up.

Perhaps a little prayer to the great God of Folks everywhere might be in order. Something like this, which suggests itself to me from a beautiful book I once read:

"God, help me to forget. Day by day, God. Until the recording soul beneath my mind is clean. Help me to forget and to grow — to get new. That is all, God."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Observer" Protected, 1960, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

THE NEW YEAR

This is the glad New Year, with not
A single mark upon its pages.
No debit there, and not a blot,
But clear alike for fools and sages.

There is no record there of past
Poor yesterdays with wrongs
And sorrows;
Even our glories do not last;
This is the book of glad tomorrows.

Hope holds the book with trustful
hands,
And through the eyes of faith
we read,
But vain are hope and faithless
stands
Determined courage for the deed.

We must be brave, not wish to be,
If we would write this story well.
Upon the page now fair to see
We must create the tale we'd tell.

We know not yet what we shall write,
What bitter tears the page may stain;
Each leaf is spotless, fair and white,
But we must write the record plain.

The Old Year's book is closed for aye,
No balance carried from it here.
Its joys and sorrows pass away;
No fault set down for us to fear.

Each page is here for us to fill;
The book is ours to make or mar;
The better things we hope for will
Be written here if brave we are.

If hope with courage is combined,
And faith and pluck go hand in hand,
If we are patient and resigned,
Life's glories we shall all command.

USES Places 1,110 Workers:

During rush periods in 1944 food processing plants in this county were furnished with a total of 1,110 workers. F. A. Crouse, manager of the United States Employment Service office here, said today.

CAIRO Egypt (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's domination of the United Arab Republic was underlined today with the resignation of four Syrian cabinet ministers, including Vice President Akram Hourani.

No reason was given for the resignation of Hourani and the three other ministers. But Nasser has shown annoyance at the refusal of old Syrian political parties to stop functioning.

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China boasted Thursday that record '59 output enabled it to surpass the major industrial and agricultural production goals of its second five-year plan two years ahead of schedule.

Vice Premier Li Fu-chun said the total output value of industry by far surpassed its target—overfulfilling that of 1958 by 25.6 percent, in an article in the Communist party journal "Red Flag." A summary was broadcast by Peiping radio.

COURT RULES ON TAX EXEMPT CHURCH LAND

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—If church land in Pennsylvania is to be tax exempt it must be used for religious purposes and not parking lots, says the State Supreme Court.

The seven justices of the state's highest tribunal ruled Wednesday that used by churches exclusively for parking are taxable.

The unanimous decision written by Justice Curtis Bok reversed the State Superior Court which had ruled, in a precedent-making action, that church parking lots were exempt from taxes. The Superior Court had reversed the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court which ruled the state constitution exempted only church property used for worship.

The parking lot tax exemptions had been sought by two Philadelphia Christian Science churches. They claimed modern living necessitated driving to church and churches needed to provide parking space.

The decision was one of 36 opinions handed down by the Supreme Court in the closing days of 1960. Justice Thomas D. McBride, whose term expires Friday, participated in all of them. McBride will be succeeded by Michael Eagan of Lackawanna County.

In other decisions the court:

1. Refused to prevent Montgomery County authorities from arresting merchants in the Montgomery Merchandise Mart for Sunday selling. A temporary injunction had been granted by Justice Bok pending a hearing by the court.

Rule Is Set

2. Ruled that a wronged wife may sue another woman for damages—and collect them—in a case where she alleges her husband has committed adultery. Heretofore the right to sue in such cases of infidelity has generally been held to be the husband's exclusively. The decision upheld a Luzerne County Jury verdict in which Mrs. Helen Karchner won damages from Esther Mumie.
- Justice McBride said in the unanimous decision common law in the past never permitted a wife to sue her husband's lover for what is legally called "criminal conversation."
- "However," McBride noted, "the common law rights of married women have advanced throughout our nation, and now the majority rule in America permits such action." He said a wife can sue "the other woman" for damages for injury "to the wife's social position, disgrace in the community where she lives or was engaged in business and dishonor to herself and her family."
3. Upheld rejection by the Montgomery County Orphans Court of a will of Mrs. Lillian Taubel, a beauty queen of the 1920's who died Nov. 14, 1958, leaving a young daughter.
- The lower court ruled the will null and void, even though it left the estate in trust for Andrea Taubel. The effect of declaring the will void, under Pennsylvania law, means the estate still will go to Andrea as the lone survivor.
4. Ordered the Lancaster County Orphans Court to determine whether a two-year-old baby girl, abandoned by her unwed Harrisburg mother, should be adopted legally by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weisman of Lancaster County. They have reared her since birth. The baby's mother, Catherine E. Stone, had signed papers offering the child for adoption. She is Protestant and the Weismans are Jewish.

The Supreme Court's action reversed the Lancaster County court which had ruled Miss Stone, in protesting against adoption, had not abandoned her child.

Sky Eden and Cardinal James were the most active pacers during the 1959 harness meeting at New York's Yonkers Raceway. Each started 19 times.

Hope To Reduce National Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury hopes to cut the national debt by $1/2 or 6 billion dollars in the next six months, but apparently not enough to avoid another temporary boost in the debt ceiling.

A drop in the debt total is not unusual in the first half of the year—the period of greatest tax receipts.

The debt is now 291 billion dollars. The Treasury said Wednesday it expects by the end of June to reduce the total to 285 or 285 1/2 billions.

The current temporary debt limit drops automatically on June 30 to 285 billions. So the Treasury's estimates indicate Congress will have to be asked again for another temporary increase in the ceiling.

BLIZZARDS HIT 12 STATES; AT LEAST 7 DEAD

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Blizzards whipped the West with Arctic fury today as the new year dawned bleak and cold across a dozen states. At least seven persons died in the first assault of the massive storm front.

Clouds heavy with snow spilled down from Canada and eastward along the southern end of the Rockies in a giant pincer.

Stockmen and travelers were warned of blizzard conditions today in parts of New Mexico, the Dakotas, Western Kansas and Nebraska and Oklahoma. Heavy snow warnings were issued for Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and North Texas.

Two civilian pilots and their light planes vanished in the cold gloom Thursday. A Denver engineer, Warren Racine, 33, disappeared after advising the Chardon, Neb., airport he was about to make an emergency landing. A Mr. Anderson of Sunnyvale, Calif., failed to arrive at Elko, Nev., on a flight from Rock Springs, Wyo.

Rain and snow contributed to highway accidents in which five persons died in Texas. A plane crashed in rainy weather near Lamesa, Tex., taking the lives of Mayor J. R. McNeill, 58, of Spur, Tex., and Herbert Heimer, also of Spur.

Two feet of fresh snow buried the southern Colorado Rockies and closed several mountain passes along the Colorado-New Mexico border. Durango, Colo., had 10 inches of snow on the ground.

From 4 to 12 inches of snow hit Utah, 10 inches fell at Luna, N.M., near the Arizona border, and from 4 to 13 inches were reported in Arizona.

Great Falls, Mont., had 5 inches of white stuff.

Winds whipped up three-foot drifts that closed highways in Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Milk Control Commission said Thursday minimum milk prices in Philadelphia and Lancaster will be reduced one cent a quart effective Friday.

BULLETS WILL RESUME DRILLS THIS EVENING

Bob Hulton's Gettysburg College basketball squad reports back this evening for a light work-out preliminary to resuming their schedule next week.

The Bullets (3-5) will resume the 1960 portion of their schedule when they tangle with Navy Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 at Annapolis and on Saturday will play host to the Engineers of Lehigh in the Eddie Plank Memorial Gym.

Despite the Bullets' 3-5 record, they gained national recognition before the Christmas vacation when they landed the number six position in the nation in field goal percentage. The Battiefelders connected on 220 of 477 shots for .461. Only Texas, Cincinnati, Auburn, West Virginia and Ohio State have better averages.

Bob Parker, Yeadon, now leads the country in foul shooting and Ron Warner, York, is rated among the leaders in scoring. Bill Fitzkee, Mount Wolf, is ranked high in rebounding, grabbing 65 of 350 rebounds.

When Gettysburg travels to Annapolis Wednesday they will be facing a tough defensive Navy squad. Navy is rated 16th in the country defensively, giving up 403 points for an average of 57.6 points per game. The Marylanders are also 13th in field goal percentage, scoring 192 goals out of 427 shots.

Soph Leads Lehigh

Lehigh, like the Bullets, has also got ten off to a shaky start. But when the Engineers invade Gettysburg, they will be led by sophomore sensation Norm Brandt, 6'1" from Roselle, N. J. The young guard is rated as the top prospect to come up from the freshman squad. Last year he dunked 378 points for an average of 27 points per contest. Brandt will be assisted by letterman Ross Culligan, 6'2", Terry Eckert, 6'2", and Jack Palfi, 6'3". Coach Tony Parker will be able to count on the height of senior Jerry Dougherty, 6'5" and sophomore John Jacobson, 6'5". Ken Weaver, a junior from Rummenede, N. J., is listed at 6'4".

Coach Howard Shoemaker's Gettysburg freshman team, after dropping their first two engagements, will play the preliminary games both days. The Bullets' yearlings lost to Bucknell, 84-47, and Muhlenberg, 77-71. Ted Koerner, Cheltenham, is the team's top scorer with 29 points and Roger Gaekler, Glen Rock, leads the team in rebounding with 25.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pat Droskunas, former Casa Twp. football coach now teaching at Schuylkill Haven, has been dropped as a registered official by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Assn.

Maple Leafs Take Second After Fight

The Toronto Maple Leafs finally have regained second place in the National Hockey League.

They were in the runner-up spot back of the high-powered Montreal Canadiens Dec. 10. Then they went into a tail spin, losing seven of their next 10 games. But Thursday night they jumped past Detroit with a 4-2 victory as the Red Wings dropped their third straight, and fourth in their last five outings. It was the only league game played New Year's Eve.

The Leafs wrapped up the game before the Wings were able to break through Toronto goalie Johnny Bower for their two goals in the last eight minutes of the final period.

WEATHER COOL WISCONSIN HOT

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The afternoon shaped up as a crisp one—by California standards—as Wisconsin and Washington got ready for the 14th Rose Bowl engagement between Big Ten and West Coast teams today.

Wisconsin was favored by 6½ points. The weatherman said there was just a possibility of showers; but he expected them to be confined mostly to the mountains around Pasadena. There was an earlier report that beads of snow might fall in the vicinity, but the Weather Bureau said these also probably would hit only mountain areas.

A temperature of between 50 and 55 was expected at game time.

A crowd approaching 100,000 was anticipated. The game was booked for national television viewers (on NBC), with kickoff set for 2 p.m., PST.

General Recommendations

Several congressmen who have played prominent parts in last year's investigations said, however, they are ready now to go well beyond Rogers' recommendations for changes in the communications and criminal laws.

CALIFORNIA, CINCINNATI SURE TO MEET

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Circle March 18. That figure to be the date California's Golden Bears, the guys who do the impossible, try to put the blanket on Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson again in their bid for a second straight NCAA title as college basketball's best.

California, shooting for an at-large berth in the Far West regionals, and Cincinnati, which can get an automatic entry into the Midwest regionals with another Missouri Valley Conference title, look like they'll make it in a breeze for a Western title showdown at San Francisco. Of the two, Cincinnati may have the tougher time, what with St. Louis and Bradley also working in the Mo-Valley. But the Bearcats are the bet.

Bears Win 25th

California, ranked behind Cincinnati and West Virginia in this week's pretourney Associated Press poll, have won 25 straight. Their ninth this season was a 65-45 walloping of previously unbeaten West Virginia for the Los Angeles Classic title Wednesday night.

The running Mountaineers ran into a bear-hug defense that allowed them only 39 field goal attempts (they hit just 15 of 'em), shacking All American Jerry West with one field goal (with only four minutes left) and eight points, his collegiate low.

It was a run-away rematch of Cal's 71-70 decision over West Virginia for the NCAA championship last March. In the semifinals, the Bears checked Robertson with 19 points — allowing the Big O just one field goal in the second half for a 64-50 decision.

Robertson After Record

The Big O, who needs only 250 points for an all-time major college career scoring record, carried the Bearcats to the ECAC Holiday Festival title with a fabulous 50 in a 96-83 victory over Iowa Wednesday at New York. It was a single-game, one-man record for the ECAC, and also gave Robertson a three-game tourney record of 122.

The Bearcats got back to action Saturday night, going for their 10th victory against Dayton. California plays a pair with Southern California Saturday and Monday.

On Thursday night's slim schedule, Georgia Tech defeated Georgia's Gator Bowl tournament champs 83-65 in a non-Southeastern Conference game and Erskine defeated Davidson 77-68.

McNeely has been seen in the garden as a preliminary boy, building a 15-0 record that includes 13 knockouts. In his last appearance, Nov. 27, he stopped Lou Jones in the fourth round. Peter Fuller, his manager, then decided to move him up to the main event class.

NEW YORK (AP)—Two new faces will be seen in the Madison Square Garden ring tonight when Tom McNeely, unbeaten 22-year-old heavyweight from Boston, meets George Logan, 23, of Boise, Idaho.

McNeely has been seen in the garden as a preliminary boy, building a 15-0 record that includes 13 knockouts. In his last appearance, Nov. 27, he stopped Lou Jones in the fourth round. Peter Fuller, his manager, then decided to move him up to the main event class.

Some half a million persons are expected to watch them in person. Crows figure to range from the 100,295 at the Rose Bowl to 12,000 for the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., in which Presbyterian (9-1) clashes with Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) this evening.

The Sugar looks for 83,000, the Orange 76,500, the Cotton 75,500 and the Prairie View Bowl, at Houston, between Prairie View A&M (8-2) vs. Wiley, Tex. (2-8), 18,000. There is also an All-American Bowl at Tucson, Ariz. Saturday.

Orange Out To Win

Syracuse is out to prove it can win a bowl game. The mighty Orangemen have failed in three previous efforts. Texas (9-1) is an old bowl campaigner. This is the ninth try for the Longhorns who have won five, lost two and tied one in postseason play.

Wisconsin (7-2) is out to avenge the only Big Ten Rose Bowl loss since 1947. That was in 1953 when the Badgers lost to Southern California 7-0. Game time is 5 p.m. EST.

Sports In Brief

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Tom Hemans, averaging over 30 points a game for Hazleton of the Eastern Basketball League, was traded Thursday to Williamsport for Jack Molinas and Tom Hart.

Hemans, a former Niagara University star, has scored 454 points in 15 games. Molinas has a 20 point average. Hart was on the inactive list at Williamsport.

Meanwhile President Harry Rudolph has called a special meeting for next Wednesday.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Quarterback Len Dawson of the Pittsburgh Steelers is happy with the trade that sent him to the Cleveland Browns.

"I like it," the former Purdue Star said Thursday. "You get very disgusted sitting on the bench for three years and it looked like I would be stuck again next season with the Steelers."

He had been warming the bench while Bobby Layne did the passing.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Fog and drizzle drenched Dallas today and dampened Texas' hopes in the Cotton Bowl football battle with Syracuse.

Early today, as crowds jammed downtown restaurants and hotel lobbies, the cold drizzle continued. Fog was so thick the skyline was obscured.

Any hopes the Longhorns had dimmed as the drizzle continued.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Orange Bowl will have the warmest weather of any bowl football game in the nation today, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts.

The temperature is expected to be in the middle 70s when 12-point favorite Georgia takes the field with Missouri at 1 p.m. EST before a near capacity crowd of 75,000.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Opposing coaches for Saturday's Gator Bowl football game agree that victory likely will hinge on whether Arkansas' ground is better than Georgia Tech's defense against running plays.

"The whole key to the game, as I see it, is can we move enough on the ground to maintain field position," said Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Tech has a good kicking game. If we get the ball say, 12 times, probably 10 of those Tech will have us deep in our own territory. We've got to move the ball."

COLLEGE GRID SEASON ENDS IN BOWL TILTS

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

If you believe the odds-makers, Syracuse, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Georgia should be the big winners as the college football season roars to an end in a blaze of bowl games today.

But they were wrong Thursday as New Mexico State's Aggies exploded for three long-distance touchdowns and upset North Texas State 28-8 in the 25th Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

The boys who establish the odds have made unbeaten, untied Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team a solid 13-point favorite over Texas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Wisconsin, the Big Ten champion, is a touchdown pick over Washington in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.; Mississippi is seven over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, and Georgia a 12-point choice over Missouri in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Big Ones Saturday

In two choice games Saturday, the East is a seven-point favorite over the West in the Shrine Game at San Francisco and the Arkansas-Georgia Tech Gator Bowl at Jacksonville is a toss-up.

Six of the nine postseason games can be seen on national television.

Some half a million persons are expected to watch them in person. Crows figure to range from the 100,295 at the Rose Bowl to 12,000 for the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., in which Presbyterian (9-1) clashes with Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) this evening.

Attractive New Home Being Completed In Rolling Acres Development By I. H. Crouse, Sons, Builders

This attractive new home is nearing completion on Glenwyn Drive in Rolling Acres at Littlestown.

I. H. Crouse and Sons, Littlestown, owners and developers of Rolling Acres, are the builders of this modern home. Ground was broken in March and only finishing touches remain to be completed before the dwelling could be turned over to its purchasers. The home is for sale by I. H. Crouse and Sons.

The newest in a development of new homes in the Rolling Acres section, the distinctive lines of this new home fit well with its neighborhood.

A treasury of new ideas is offered in this handsome split-level house. The clean, simple lines of the exterior blend nicely into its setting and the combination of building materials is unusually attractive.

An extended roofline forms the carport and provides shelter for the front doorway. In the vestibule there is a handy closet and the generous window area helps to make this a bright and cheerful spot in which to welcome guests.

Terrace At Rear

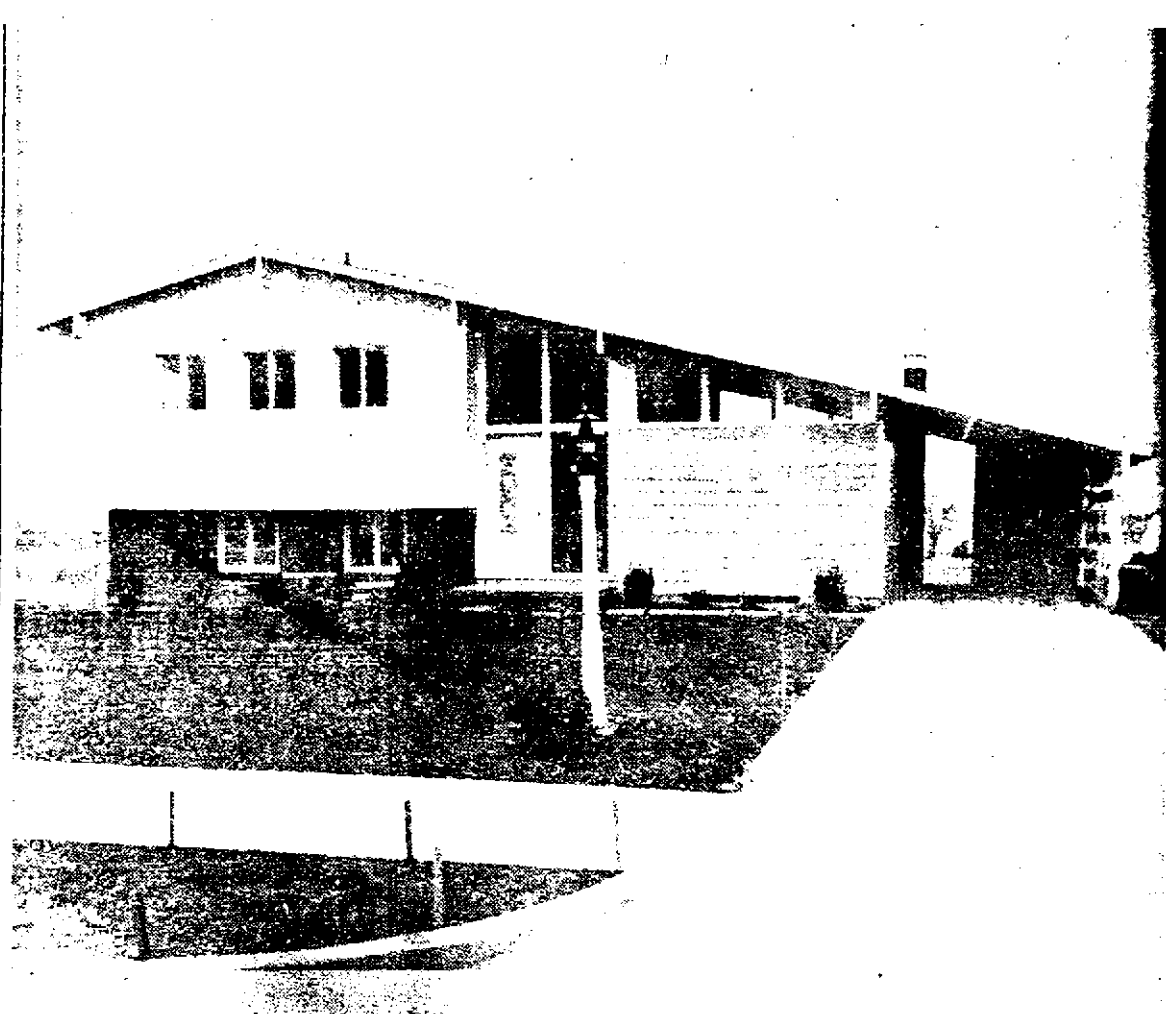

Also on this level is the living room with windows at front and rear and an open balcony overlooking the family room.

On the lower level a family room forms the focal point for fun and relaxation. It is large enough to accommodate a television set or perhaps a television and music center, as well as family games or party guests. Large sliding glass doors open to the rear of the house where a wonderfully useful terrace has been built.

The dining room is separated for privacy but it is still handy to the kitchen, and the kitchen is a well-designed one indeed.

Step-saver, too

There is a step-saving arrangement of all appliances, including the counter-top range and built-in oven, and there is a sizeable dinette space in front of the two windows.

Next to the kitchen you will find the very desirable and economical combination lavatory and laundry, which includes a built-in sink as well as a washer and dryer. On the upper level there is a sleeping area consisting of three bedrooms and a full bath. The hallway here is actually a balcony overlooking the vestibule, and bedroom 3 would make a perfect guest room or den.

To the rear in the left corner there is a spacious master bedroom with two window exposures and two spacious closets. The front bedroom has three windows and an extra large closet and the family bath boasts of a built-in vanity and a built-in hamper. In the hall there is a linen closet and a storage closet.

Can Arrange Tour

The overall dimensions of the new house are 21 feet eight inches by 50 feet six inches. Excluding the carport, the lower level of the house covers 820 square feet.

A call to I. H. Crouse and Sons' headquarters in Littlestown is all that is necessary to arrange for a inspection tour of the new dwelling.

Superintendent Of Public Instruction Foresees Boon

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The next decade should see an emphasis on quality education, Dr. Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of public instruction, said today.

In a speech prepared for the final session of the 107th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Assn., he recommended:

School boards and the state pay to give biology, physical science and language teachers additional education in latest advancement in their subjects.

Longer Term

A longer teacher term be considered in the next salary increases.

Five to 10 per cent of the teachers be employed for a full year. More study be given merit pay. From five to 10 per cent of any increase in subsidies to the schools be earmarked for encouragement of quality in education.

Mrs. Bertha P. Boyd, 45, Carlisle, a sixth grade teacher in the Boiling Springs school system in Cumberland County, was installed as president of the PSEA for the coming year in this final session.

She succeeds Dr. A. N. Addleman, Allegheny County.

Meanwhile, the chairman of the PSEA's legislative committee said the organization probably will try again for an increase in state school subsidies during the 1959 legislative session.

Subsidy Bill Due

"We plan to come back with a subsidy bill," said Joseph Seigman, Mooresville, Allegheny County, in an interview.

Seigman added that the subsidy request would be "just about" the same as the PSEA's original proposal for 200 million dollars a biennium introduced in the 1959 session. That proposal has been trimmed to 16 millions and is now awaiting final disposition when the session returns to wind things up next Monday and Tuesday.

At Tuesday's final business session of the PSEA's house of delegates a resolution endorsing mandatory Bible readings in schools was enthusiastically approved. The resolution added the PSEA's request that a federal court in Philadelphia close to uphold the readings unconstitutional.

That court decision now is being appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

SAYS WISDOM IS WAY TO A HAPPIER YEAR

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Practically everyone needs consolation on New Year's Day.

Practically everyone feels a mixture of sadness and gladness—and maybe a brown taste in the mouth, too, if he did too much wassailing the night before.

At such a time you can best find comfort in the sages of the ages.

Are you worried because you don't see how you can ever pay all your leftover Christmas bills?

Sound Reasoning

Well, cheer up. In 1650 James Howell observed, "Debt is better than death." In 1533 Rabelais wrote, "The Lord forbid that I should be out of debt, as if, indeed, I could not be trusted." And there is an old Spanish proverb to the effect, "Debts are like children: the smaller they are the more noise they make."

Are you annoyed with yourself because you stayed too late at a New Year's Eve party, and was the last guest to go? Brace up, buddy. Remember this fine Norwegian proverb: "A hero is one who knows how to hang on one minute longer."

Do you have a king-size, non-filterable hangover that nothing seems to cure? Don't give up hope. An Italian proverb counsels, "There is a remedy for everything except a broken neck." In 1665 Charles Cotton wrote, "A night of good drinking is worth a year's thinking." And a fine old Scot proverb proclaims, "They that drink longest live longest."

Courage Needed

Has your wife been bawling you out? Don't let her get you down, friend. Recall the truth of what John Davies pointed out in 1602, "There never was a wife that liked her lot." Or what Stanislaus Leszczynski, King of Poland, said in 1763, "Have the courage to listen to her when you should not."

If you have the strength, you might even fight back by reminding your hausfrau what William Shakespeare said about a wife's duty: "I will attend my husband, be his nurse, diet his sickness, for it is my office." It is entirely normal to be a bit upset on this day. As Charles Lamb said, "No one ever regarded the first of January with indifference. It is the nativity of our common Adam."

News Briefs

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Home Minister Surya Prasad Upadhyaya has denied reports that Red Chinese army units are inside Nepal's territory.

Unconfirmed reports earlier this month said Chinese units from Tibet had made brief incursions deep inside western Nepal.

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP)—A special military tribunal has ordered death sentences for three members of a Communist terrorist band that attacked a U.S. Army billet and killed an American major and sergeant last July 8.

The three were convicted of high treason and murder.

Killed were Maj. Dale R. Buis of Imperial Beach, Calif.; Sgt. Chester M. Ovnand of Copperas Cove, Tex., and two Vietnamese guards, Capt. Howard B. Boston of Blairsburg, Iowa, was wounded.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio has said there is "no single international problem of any moment" on which the Soviet Union and Red China do not see eye to eye.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration has delayed until Jan. 25 the start of its ban on 17 coal tar colors in lipstick.

Commissioner George P. Larrick expects to decide by then whether to hold public hearings asked by lipstick makers. The manufacturers have protested that the ban would affect about every lipstick on the market and could ruin their business.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Two leading Indian newspapers have attacked the U. S. decision to put its ban on nuclear weapon tests on a day-to-day basis.

The Times of India called the decision "unfortunate."

The Hindustan Times published a cartoon showing Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as an angel on a cloud with a halo over his head. President Eisenhower, on a mushroom cloud nearby, is swinging a

TV Hassle Results In Murder Of Man

NEW BOSTON, N. H. (AP)—An elderly boarder killed his sleeping, 81-year-old landlord with a baseball bat early Thursday, claiming he was halo around his waist like a hula hoop, saying, "We had better progress in peace talks—my halo can't stay up forever."

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Nixon said Thursday he and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell have met with leaders on both sides in the steel dispute but that no agreement had been reached between the parties.

"As for what progress has been made, all I can say is that the parties are still meeting and have not reached an agreement," Nixon said.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's chief scientist at the Geneva nuclear test ban talks has called on the West to join in a permanent test ban, set up a control system and then "improve it by experience."

Dr. E. K. Federov in an interview with Pravda, the Soviet Communist party organ, said: "It is obvious that not endless discussions on the possible qualities of a control system should be the immediate task today."

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—A secret ballot to find out whether steel workers want to accept the Alphonse Bellefontaine, 72, and steel firms latest contract offer will be held here January 11 and 13 for 15,000 Bethlehem steel workers.

The company offer will be published for inspection and will be posted near the balloting site. There has been no indication whether the NLRB will consider the vote on a company wide or unit basis.

Argue Over Programs

County Atty. Conrad Danals said the two men were arguing over which TV programs to watch ever since Bellefontaine began living in Chandler's home last October. Sleeping in an upstairs bedroom and unaware of the tragedy was Chandler's elderly wife, Minnie.

BIG PARADE IN PHILA. TODAY

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Strain of "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers" floated up Broad Street today as 15,000 Mummers lined up for their 60th annual parade.

The colorful New Year's shoot-ers passed up midnight celebrations to put final touches on their satin and sequin costumes for their yearly march up one of the longest streets of the world.

Comic units lead the parade. The lavish fancy divisions came next in the seven-hour march. And the string bands—all attired in costumes with a theme—brought up the rear.

The Mummers were competing for $61,500 in prize money donated by City Council. It cost them over a million dollars and thousands of hours of toil all the year to get ready.

A traditional Philadelphia institution, the Mummers Parade grew out of the old English custom of youths in groups wandering about in fantastic costumes during Christmas week, acting out plays in pantomime.

maxing a month-long argument over television programs. Then the killer collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Police identified the slayer as Alphonse Bellefontaine, 72, and steel firms latest contract offer will be held here January 11 and 13 for 15,000 Bethlehem steel workers.

Singer Julie London Wed New Year's Eve

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Julie London and musician Bobby Troup were married New Year's Eve.

Friends said a honeymoon trip to Rio de Janeiro will be postponed. Miss London, 32, has been under a doctor's care because of a virus. She and Troup, 42, have been going together since 1954.

A few friends and relatives attended the ceremony performed by Superior Court Judge Burnett Wolfson. Among them were Miss London's two daughters by her previous marriage to actor Jack Webb.

Troup formerly was married to Cynthia Hare, a dancer.

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — Some 1,200 furloughed employees of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. here are slated for recall by Jan. 18.

Plant Manager Lewis H. Warheit said Thursday the recall was made possible by favorable economic factors, including the firm's acquisition of necessary steel for building railroad cars.

He would appeal the decision.

The case had its origin in Fayette County in 1957 when state police seized 17 multiple-coin machines in a raid. In subsequent action, the county court, the State Superior Court and State Supreme Court ruled the machines illegal.

STATE POLICE BEGIN DRIVE ON PINBALLS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State police, under the direction of the State Attorney General's office, began a drive today to confiscate all multiple-coin pinball machines in Pennsylvania.

The machines have been declared gambling devices and illegal by the State Supreme Court. Multiple-coin machines which have been converted to single-coin operations will not be affected.

Atty. Gen. Anne K. Alpern, in Pittsburgh for the New Year's holiday, confirmed Thursday that her office would begin seizing the outlawed machines today.

Free Of Restraints

"Since the State Supreme Court has returned the records of the case to the Fayette County Court," said Miss Alpern, "I am free of any restraints imposed by the announced intention of Atty. Anthony Cavalcante to appeal the case to the U. S. Supreme Court."

The state high court's action, contended Miss Alpern, backed up her argument earlier this week that Cavalcante had no intention of filing an appeal.

Cavalcante, representing a number of pinball machine owners in southwestern Pennsylvania, had

County Home Auxiliary's Units Lauded For Their Cooperation During Year

Eight full-time committees, a number of civic and private groups, individuals and the Adams County Home Auxiliary were lauded for their "loyal cooperation" in the annual report by the president of the auxiliary, Dr. H. W. Sternat, Biglerville, at the December meeting of the organization.

Individuals were not singled out in the fear that an unintentional omission of a name might be misinterpreted as an "injustice." Each participating group, however, received "the highest recognition for a task well done."

Dr. Sternat's report included the following:

"The activities committee's monthly report indicates that the guests have been amply entertained by various organizations within the county and from south of the Maryland border at monthly birthday parties, special holidays and by seasonal tours in the county."

Beauticians Busy
"The beauticians' committee has made great progress by the development of a systematic plan of service, with the free-will, generous, cheerful assistance of many of the proprietors of salons and parlors in Gettysburg and the county in order that all the guests who desire may avail themselves of the service and enjoy the difference that a new hand makes. For these services we are sincerely grateful.

"The magazine committee has furnished an abundance of periodical magazines and books with the cooperation of college students. The presentation of a three-speed record player, stand, holder, assorted records and the long-playing records of the Talking Book Co. of Philadelphia, donated by proceeds from the Ridge View Quarter Horse Show have afforded entertainment, information and pleasure for many of the guests."

The membership committee secured contributions of one dollar from 92 organizations, two more than last year, and 134 individuals, four more than last year, which indicates a growing interest in the welfare of the home.

Helped At Christmas
"The committee on the needs of the home enhanced in many ways the attractiveness of the rooms, the comfort of the guests and this year secured Christmas greetings and stamps for them. With the help of Gettysburg College students the guests were able to extend season's greetings to their relatives and friends.

"The reading committee greatly appreciates the cooperation of the college students who regularly visited and read to the guests."

"The sewing and crafts committee instructed and assisted guests in preparing articles to sell for pocket money on the annual Visitation Day."

"The Visitation Day committee with the voluntary assistance of many members, friends and organizations began work in February, kept the needs before the auxiliary at various meetings and consequently had one of the biggest and best annual Visitation Days. It was followed up with a rummage sale and a bazaar. These activities substantially increased the funds of the auxiliary."

A Mediating Body
"The auxiliary, acting as a mediating body between Adams County organizations and the home, appreciates the interest and the helpfulness of various institutions, fraternal orders, church groups, civic clubs, college and seminary students and the earnest consideration and cooperation of the county commissioners. The chairman of the county commissioners, E. Donald Scott, briefed the auxiliary upon the needs, location, plans, cost and financing of the new home and was assured of the wholehearted support in this worthy and timely project."

Praise Jordans
"Members of the auxiliary have ably coordinated stimulated and advised interested individuals, groups and organizations willing to serve the residents of the Adams County Home. In behalf of the auxiliary we wish to assure all those who have given of their time, talents and money, that their co-operation has greatly enhanced the physical, mental and spiritual welfare of the guests at the home and the efficiency of our services. We respectfully and earnestly hope that the splendid relationships established will continue, that representatives will be encouraged to attend the monthly meetings and that laboring together with the commissioners we may erect a modern home worthy of the citizens of Adams County."

"We are happy to announce that the auxiliary's treasury has been increased substantially during the past year, all bills are paid and the major proportion of the money has been placed on deposit in a bank to accumulate interest and be available for use in the new county home."

Asks Continued Support
"As president of the auxiliary it is fitting and proper for me to express our appreciation to our new, capable superintendent, W. E. Jordan, and his efficient wife, who assumed the office on February 1 of the current year. We highly commend them both for their interest, attendance, helpfulness and briefings on conditions in the home, made monthly at our meetings. We appreciate their inauguration of greatly improved conditions and services for the guests and for their concern about the new building."

"The president, about to conclude his office, wishes to acknowledge and hereby express his sincere gratitude for the loyal, kind and hearty cooperation of the executive committee, the chairman and individuals on the various committees and the many loyal members of the auxiliary who have so graciously assisted in making his term of service pleasant and are in reality the reason for any success achieved. He earnestly beseeches you to manifest the same interest, devotion and wholehearted co-operation to the new president and executive officers who assume their responsibilities now."

Christians Need To Be On Guard To Save Liberty

REV. AMOS D. MEYERS
York Springs Methodist Charge

One of the most absurd events happened in the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C., on a June day in 1951. On that day the large lobby of the hotel was covered by a lovely carpet—a white background there were huge gray ferns crossed by equally black ferns woven in a spectacular design.

On that day certain workmen appeared at the side entrance and said to a few guests standing nearby "Pardon us, would you kindly step aside while we roll up the carpet—we are sending it to the cleaners?" The guests obligingly stepped to one side and the whole width of the carpet was rolled up in business-like fashion as far as the next group of guests. They complied with the polite request of the workmen. Then rounding the corner they reached the main lobby where clerks, bell hops and guests created a busier atmosphere. But even there the polite request received the same polite response; one of the hotel managers stepped aside to let the large roll of carpet move across the floor toward the side door at which the men first entered.

No one minded the bare floors for a few days while they were waiting for the dry cleaners to finish their work. But after three weeks had passed people began to wonder when the carpet would be replaced. Finally the manager spoke sharply to the head housekeeper about the matter. She replied even more sharply that someone had gone over her head in ordering the work done at such a busy season of the year. And then the horrible truth began to dawn. Nobody had authorized the cleaning of the carpet! It was a master job of theft by which the rug had literally been stolen from under their feet.

We are tempted to smile at such a ridiculous turn of events. But in more ways than one we permit ourselves to be robbed in broad daylight. Shakespeare observed: "What a fool man is to put into his belly a thief to steal away his brain." He was speaking of the intemperate use of alcoholic liquors by which man permits himself to be robbed of his higher mental powers in his desire to satisfy a base desire of the flesh.

The Apostle Peter counsels us: "Be sober, be vigilant, because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about seeking whom he may devour." This is a reminder that on every hand there are enemies of our souls which seek to destroy the best things in life.

Christians must be on guard at all times lest they be lulled into complacency and awaken all too late to discover that such things as religious liberty and other privileges which we take for granted in our way of life have been snatched away by some crafty thief. Jesus offers the best advice of all: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break nor steal."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WHY DO WE SING IN CHURCH?

Most of us take hymns for granted—until the eager mind of a child asks, "Why do we sing in Church?" And then we have to grope for the right answer . . .

It isn't that God prefers singing to other kinds of worship. We know He is concerned with sincerity, not melody.

And we don't sing simply because we are happy. In trouble and sorrow we have turned to a favorite hymn for strength.

Nor do we sing in Church merely because we like to sing. That would seem a self-centered sort of worship.

We sing because sacred music has beauty, feeling, reverence. It is a fitting expression of our faith in God. And we sing because the message of a hymn reaches the soul of the singer and the heart of his neighbor—as well as the throne of God.

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON AP—The Republicans' 1960 convention should be one of the dullest of the century unless they can find a way to jazz it up.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon—as of this minute, with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller stepping aside—seems certain to get the presidential nomination at the convention which opens in Chicago July 25.

If he gets it without opposition, that will be the first time in this century it has happened except when a president was being re-nominated. It's hardly an exciting way to start a campaign against steamed-up Democrats.

The lid is off on all our good wishes for every moment of the new year.

GET A QUALITY DEAL FROM A QUALITY DEALER

Rockefeller's ice-cold and dead-end statement removing himself from the race was not the kind to create party harmony. The coldness and the aim were directed squarely at the Republican party bosses.

They gave him the chilly shoulder in big doses on his last Midwestern trip. It was after this trip he decided not to fight Nixon for the nomination.

A Little Too Cute

If they were dedicated Nixon fans and thus wanted to discourage Rockefeller, they succeeded. But perhaps they and others like them played it a little too cute. Already some opposition to the bosses is appearing in Republican ranks.

Tuesday the New Hampshire "Draft Rockefeller" committee turned down an invitation to join the Nixon-for-President camp, saying it has "no authority" to commit its members.

In Los Angeles the Californians-for-Rockefeller organization said it intends to start a draft of the New York governor for the Republican nomination.

May Be Critical

The group's board of directors issued a statement saying, "We are convinced that the present leadership of the party has its hands tied by political applications and is stifling the true expression of voter preference."

Maybe these signs of discontent will melt away and Nixon will have an uninvited red carpet waiting for him at the convention. But Rockefeller's withdrawal statement contained indications that he may be critical of both the party and the Eisenhower administration between now and convention time. He has been critical in the past few months. He said he would continue to speak with full freedom.

It seems fair to put this interpretation on Rockefeller's statement: He was, in effect, telling rank-and-file Republicans the party bosses had deprived them of a chance to choose between him and Nixon.

Deprived Of Choice

He said "The great majority of those who will control the Republican convention stand opposed to any contest for the nomination." He could have said the majority of the convention controllers wanted Nixon.

But by saying they didn't want a contest, as he went on to explain, he showed how the rank-and-file therefore would be deprived of a chance to make their own feelings understood.

Best Wishes 1960
